MRS. WARD'S NEW NOVEL SECOND IMPRESSION NOW READY

PALL MALL GAZETTE.—"A superb book, full of colour and stimulus, noble in its elevation, sweeping in its current of narrative, vibrating with all that the heart cares for—an achievement possible only to the resource and concentration of the most brilliant powers."

THE MARRIAGE OF WILLIAM ASHE

By MRS. HUMPHRY WARD

With Illustrations by ALBERT STERNER. Crown 8vo, 6s.

WESTMINSTER GAZETTE.—"The idea is admirably conceived and well worked out. . . . It is a pleasure in these days of rapid and slovenly writing to come across a book which is so able and conscientious in its workmanship, so well planned and so carefully thought out."

ACADEMY.—"The story is one of the best that Mrs. Humphry Ward has written. . . . Her study of the girl is acute and in every way excellent. She has laid bare the feminine mind with a precision that is almost scientific."

Roses for English Gardens.

By GERTRUDE JEKYLL and EDWARD MAWLEY, Hon.
Secretary of the National Rose Society. Illustrated with 190 full-page Plates. 12s. 6d. net.

Daily Chronicle.—"All the roses of England, blossoming in a counterfeit summer of black and white, seem to be gathered together into Miss JEKYLL's charming book. The pictures are really pleasant to look at; near or far, a rose photographs quite as well as a beautiful face, and carries with it its own individual look. No one can fail to be captured by Miss JEKYLL's enthusiasm and fine discrimination."

Lilies for English Gardens.

Written and compiled by GERTRUDE JEKYLL. 8s. 6d. net.

Westminster Gazette.—"LILIES FOR ENGLISH GARDENS" is a volume in the "Country Life" Library, and it is almost sufficiently high commendation to say that the book is worthy of the journal. Miss JEKYLL's aim has been to write and compile a book on Lilies which shall tell amateurs, in the plainest and simplest possible way, how most easily and successfully to grow the Lily—which, considering its great beauty, is not grown nearly so much as might be expected. We certainly think that in the future there will be less neglect of this flower, for after looking at some of the illustrations (all admirable and admirably produced), there will not be many garden owners who will be content to be Lilyless."

Wall and Water Gardens.

By GERTRUDE JEKYLL, Author of "Wood and Garden."

Containing instructions and hints on the Cultivation of suitable plants on Dry Walls, Rock Walls, in Streams, Marshpools, Lakes, Ponds, Tanks and Water Margins. With 133 full-page Illustrations. Large 8vo, 186 pp., Buckram, 12s. 6d. net.

Times.—"WALL AND WATER GARDENS."—He who will consent to follow Miss JEKYLL aright will find that under her guidance the old walls, the stone steps, the rockeries, the ponds or streamlets of his garden will presently blossom with all kinds of flowers undreamed of, and become marvels of varied foliage. More than a hundred photographs help to enforce Miss JEKYLL's admirable lessons."

The Century Book of Gardening.

(SECOND EDITION)

Edited by E. T. COOK. A comprehensive Work for every Lover of the Garden. 624 pages, with about 600 Illustrations. 21s. net.

Times.—"No department of gardening is neglected, and the illustrations of famous and beautiful gardens and of the many winsome achievements of the gardener's art are so numerous and attractive as to make the veriest cockney yearn to turn gardener."

Gardening for Beginners.

(THIRD EDITION)

A Handbook to the Garden. By E. T. COOK. 12s. 6d. net.

So great has been the success of this gardening book for beginners, that a third edition has been called for and is now ready. This work is for those who are about to begin gardening, nothing that will help the beginner over first difficulties being omitted.

About 100 diagrams will explain certain practical operations better than mere descriptions. There are also nearly 200 illustrations, prepared in the best style, of flowers, fruit, vegetables, and trees and shrubs.

Spectator.—"Full of information about both the useful and the ornamental, and as far as we have been able to test it, eminently practical. The beginner, by the way, will have gone a long way before he has assimilated the contents of this stout volume of nearly five hundred pages; but then alia alius cura, and the wider the choice that is offered by a volume of this kind the better."

Trees and Shrubs for English Gardens.

By E. T. COOK, Editor of "The Garden." 12s. 6d. net.

Gardener's Chronicle.—"A good book on trees and shrubs is a real want. Few books are more often inquired for, and until now we have had a difficulty in replying to our correspondents who have asked for information on the point. In the days of trashy gardening books, it is a pleasure to come across one which bears the stamp of original observation, judicious inference, and industrious research."

VOLS. I. AND II. NOW READY

Gardens Old and New.

(The Country House and its Garden Environment.) Over 450 Superb Illustrations in each volume, printed on treble thick Art Paper, portraying in a manner never before attempted the greatest and most interesting Gardens and Homes in England. £2 2s. net each.

Birmingham Daily Post.—"One could not, if one would, overpraise the charm of this beautiful book. As an example of the beautiful in books, it is a long time since we chanced on anything so noteworthy as 'GARDENS OLD AND NEW.'"

The Fruit Garden.

By GEORGE BUNYARD and OWEN THOMAS. Price 21s. net. Now Ready. 507 Pages. Size 10½ by 7½ in.

"THE FRUIT GARDEN" gives full instructions for the culture of every fruit that is worth growing in Britain, either out-of-doors or under glass, and, in addition, contain chapters upon the Value of Fruit Trees as Flowering Trees, Whole Fruit Preservation, Tropical Fruits and How to Grow Them, the Construction of Fruit Houses, Fruit Trees in Pots, Injurious Diseases and Insects, Fruit Culture in America, France, and the Channel Islands, etc.

Review of "The Fruit Garden," from the R.H.S. Journal for May 1904.—"Without any doubt the best book of the sort yet published. There is a separate chapter for every kind of fruit, and each chapter is a book in itself—there is, in fact, everything that any one can need or wish for in order to succeed in fruit growing. The book simply teems with illustrations, diagrams, and outlines. The diagrams on pruning are particularly admirable; we cannot speak too highly of them, and from them any one should be able to teach himself to be an expert pruner. The book winds up with 200 pages of outline drawings, which should be a wonderful aid to identification."

The Field, February 27, 1904.—"Written by Experts... In all thirty chapters, and these contain practically all that is really essential for the reader to know as to the modern methods employed in the selection, culture, protection, and increase of trees, and the harvesting, storing and preserving of fruit as grown in the garden or fruit farms of to-day."

Sweet Violets and Pansies. and Violets from Mountain and Plain.

Written by several authorities, and Edited by E. T. COOK, Editor of "The Garden," Author of "Trees and Shrubs," etc. Price 3s. 6d. net.

The Book of British Ferns.

By CHAS. T. DRUERY, F.L.S., V.M.H., President of the British Fern Society. Price 3s. 6d. net.

St. James's Gazette.—"Has been most carefully done; no fewer than 700 choice varieties are described. The book is well and lucidly written and arranged; it is altogether beautifully got up. Mr. Druery has long been recognised as an authority on the subject."
